Amundi expands ETF thematic range
with new Smart City & Smart Factory ETFs

London – 17 October 2019 - Amundi announces the launch of two new thematic ETFs: the Amundi Smart City UCITS ETF and the Amundi Smart Factory UCITS ETF.

Smart Cities are fast emerging as a response to rapid urbanisation, which will see two-thirds of the global population living in urban areas by 2050¹. New 'Smart' technologies will help cities address the challenges of urbanisation by increasing efficiency, productivity, and sustainability.

To help investors tap into the potential offered by these cities of the future, nearly 208² stocks from six key sectors were identified to underpin the Smart City ETF: public infrastructure, smart homes, e-commerce, healthcare, entertainment, and technology.

Innovative and disruptive technologies have also given rise to a new type of Smart Factory that is revolutionising manufacturing. Again, five key sectors were identified to help investors benefit from this trend, creating a portfolio of 252² stocks from companies involved in: Advanced Robotics, Cloud Computing & Big Data, Cyber Security, Augmented Reality & 3D printing and the Internet of Things.

Recognising the importance of diversification, Amundi's new ETFs cover both developed and emerging markets and use a multi-sector approach that combines several thematic exposures. Both ETFs track indices from Solactive³. The new ETFs were listed on Euronext Paris and Euronext Amsterdam with the same competitive ongoing charges of 0.35%⁴.

Fannie Wurtz, Head of Amundi ETF, Indexing & Smart Beta, said: "Innovation is in our DNA, and we are always looking for new opportunities for investors. With our Artificial Intelligence ETF, and now these new Smart City and Smart Factory ETFs, we can help investors to capitalise on three of the major themes that are shaping our future."
